Palm Springs, CA, February 25, 2013 - (PressReleasePoint) - Random Haus Palm Springs, a new luxury LGBT property in Palm Springs, has recently held two events to publicize and promote the opening of the hotel.

The first was an open house, held on February 6th, 2013 and the second was a ribbon cutting ceremony held on February 13th, 2013.

The ribbon cutting ceremony was held in conjunction with the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, who brought with them several Chamber Ambassadors to help with the ceremony. Both events were catered by Jensen's Finest Foods and had a successful turnout of individuals coming out to show their interest in the newest hotel in the neighborhood.

"The number of individuals who have attended each of these most recent events is indicative of the overall excitement about this amazing new property," said Riley Hotel Group President Joe Moffa. "We are convinced that this property is going to be one of the most successful in our history of hotel management."

For anyone who was not able to visit the hotel during one of the most recent events, the staff at Random Haus invites them to call and set up a personal tour of the property. There are also additional promotional events being planned for the near future.
